MULE POWERED—It's a far cry from handling a helicopter but Bob Drummond of Drummond Land Clearing is equally at home behind a span of mules as he is in the seat of his chopper. Thursday the mules were harnessed to the old John Deere planter to plant a few rows of sorghum for the Bicentennial's old-fashioned farm days to be held sometime in September at the Drummond farm and at the Bill Green farm. Supervising the planting is Bob's father, Floyd Drummond, who told The Herald yesterday the planter was the last John Deere horse planter sold new by a Pickaway County implement dealer.

Bargaining Bill Passed By Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic sponsors of a collective bargaining bill they claim will extend "first class citizenship" to public employees predict its favorable consideration in the House.

They sailed the big bill through the Senate Thursday by a 20-12 party line vote, brushing aside claims by minority Republicans that it was drafted by labor to give unions in the state "everything they always wanted."

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, the chief sponsor, predicted the House—also controlled by Democrats—"will approve it in almost the same form as it is now." He and Majority Leader Oliver Ocasak, D-27 Akron, said the bill brings equality into the public employe collective bargaining arena for the first time.

The strike-prohibiting Ferguson Act, repealed by the pending measure, "for many years has delegated public employes to second class citizenship.

17 Highway Deaths Seen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seventeen persons will die on Ohio roads this Memorial Day weekend, the Department of Highway Safety predicted Thursday.

The department estimated that 13 deaths would occur on state, county and township roads and 4 deaths will occur in incorporated areas such as cities and villages.

"By these predictions, the alert driver will be most aware of dangerous circumstances in either rural or urban situations as well as being prepared to drive skillfully under all circumstances," said department Director Donald D. Cook.

The highway safety official predicted that 2 pedestrians may be killed; 10 may die in collisions between motor vehicles; and 5 may be killed in single-vehicle related crashes.

Inter-Party Fighting In Lebanon Continues

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Palestinian guerrillas and the private army of Lebanon's right-wing Phalangist party battled for the fourth day today with mortars, machine guns and bazookas after the Lebanese government failed in an attempt to put a buffer force between them.

The casualty toll rose to more than 25 dead and 150 wounded.

Residents in the battle area on the eastern outskirts of Beirut said special police forces that tried to establish a buffer zone between the warring factions Thursday night withdrew when they were caught in a crossfire.

This morning they were reported observing the shooting but not participating.

The Moslem Palestinians and the Christian Phalangists battled for five days last month after a shooting at the dedication of a Christian church guarded by the Phalangist militia. Two hundred persons were killed and more than 500 were wounded.

The fighting this week was touched off by a clash Tuesday between some Palestinians and a police patrol.

The Phalangists charge that the Palestinians endanger Lebanon by their guerrilla operations against Israel from bases in southern Lebanon. The Palestinians charge that the Phalangists are trying to drive them out of the country or impose restrictions on guerrilla activity that would kill the Palestine liberation movement.

The tension and periodic outbreaks of fighting have hurt Lebanon's tourist trade and Beirut's image as the stable financial center of the Arab world.

Schools, banks and business establishments have been closed. Shopkeepers have struck in support of one or the other faction. Postal service and transit trade at the port have been disrupted since March. Some foreign companies have indicated they might have to leave Beirut unless conditions improve.

Elsewhere in the Middle East:

The Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram reported that Libya has granted the Soviet Union army, naval and air bases on Libyan territory in exchange for Soviet agreement to sell the Libyans $4 billion worth of tanks, missiles and other of the "latest

U.S. To End Laos Aid Program

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — American families packed up today to be evacuated from Laos as the Laotian government announced Washington had agreed to withdraw all U.S. aid personnel except a few experts and dismantle the 24-year-old aid program in the country.

The number of Americans to be evacuated initially was not known, but Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the American presence in the landlocked kingdom that has come under Communist domination in the past month would be substantially reduced.

The start of the evacuation was delayed. The U.S. Embassy said planes of the Laotian airline had been chartered to take the Americans out, but government permission for the flights had not been received yet.

It also was uncertain whether the airport would be open to traffic. Workers there have been demonstrating for two days against the remnants of right-wing influence in the coalition government.

Phoumi Vongvichit, the Communist Pathet Lao deputy premier and foreign minister, told a rally in the national stadium that in response to demonstrations in the past two weeks, the U.S. Embassy had decided to close the offices of the U.S. Agency for International Development and withdraw all AID personnel except a few experts.

"The dissolution of US-AID does not mean we will stop accepting American aid," he said. "We will continue to accept U.S. aid. The Lao government and the U.S. Embassy will negotiate on the matter."

The aid program this year totals $32.5 million.

Students continued to occupy the AID headquarters compound in Vientiane where two U.S. Marine guards and an American civilian are prisoners. And Pathet Lao troops continued to restrict traffic in and out of the American housing settlement four miles outside Vientiane in which about 140 American families live.

The government arranged the release of foreigners held under house arrest by student demonstrators in Savannakhet, in southern Laos, and 14 Americans were flown from there to Udorn air base in northeast Thailand Thursday, along with Japanese peace corps workers, European missionaries and employees of British volunteer agencies.

They had been confined to their homes for eight days during which the Embassy said there were 12 Americans in the town. On Thursday, the Embassy said 18 had been evacuated, but today it reduced the number to 14. There was no explanation for any of the changes.

These other Indochina developments were reported:

Thailand's defense minister, Pramarn Adireksarn, said that Khmer Rouge troops on Thursday conquered the last known holdouts of the old Cambodian regime in the 900-year-old Preah Vihear temple on the Thai-Cambodian border.

Saigon radio reported that the Women's Liberation Union of South Vietnam has taken over the Saigon villa of three high-ranking U.S. officers as the group's headquarters. The broadcast said the house at 60 Tran Quy Cap had been occupied by an army colonel, an air force colonel and a navy commander.

The Hong Kong government announced that it will accept no more South Vietnamese refugees, and new arrivals will be treated as "illegal immigrants" and sent back to Saigon.

Coal Cost Escalation Defended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An adequate profit for coal mine operators must take precedence over obtaining fuel at the lowest possible price, the president of Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. said Thursday.

Arthur G. Green told a legislative committee that the profit is necessary to assure the coal production continues.

But he said his utility has no intention of making coal miners rich at the electric consumers' expense. He said the company only wants to provide an adequate profit.

Green made the remarks before the legislature's Joint Select Committee on Energy, which is investigating utility regulation and utility rates.

The committee questioned whether the utility really shops for the best coal prices when it can pass higher coal costs on to the consumer through fuel adjustment clauses.

"Our principal purpose is to assure ourselves of a long-term supply of coal," Green said. "We're also aware the operator has to make a profit, too; if he takes a loss and goes out of business, then we lose our supply."

The committee chairman, Rep. Thomas J. Carney, D-71 Youngstown, asked Green if that meant the operators' profit came right behind adequate supply and before obtaining coal at the lowest possible price. Green said it did.

"Although that's a standard way of doing business in our system, we're also talking about another issue," Carney said.

"That's the coal operator...he has a free hand to sit down and determine price based on your ability to pass the price through in your fuel adjustment clause."

"My judgment is that (the utility's purchasing agent) is probably not using the same diligence as he would if the president of your company were sitting there looking over his shoulder as if he had to bear the burden of the cost."

Prison Walkout May Spread To Mental Centers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A union official has threatened that the labor dispute which resulted in picket lines at four Ohio prisons may spread to some Ohio mental institutions.

Charging that enforcement of a new state ruling on union representation "is going to abrogate our mental health contract," Bill O'Neill, assistant director of Council 4455, Communications Workers of America, said his union has asked every local in the state, except those at universities, to take a strike vote.

He said he was confident the members would authorize the action, adding that, if approved, the strike would begin "as soon as possible." Results of the vote are expected today.

"This involves every mental institution where we have membership," O'Neill said, "but it's more than mental health. We have members, for example, in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles."

He predicted the strike would occur at 10 to 15 mental health institutions.

The union's complaint is over a controversial state ruling that, to be recognized, a union must represent 15 per cent of the employes at institutions with existing contracts.

Meanwhile, picketing against another provision of that ruling continued at four state prisons — the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility in Lucasville, the Marion Correctional Institution, the Chillicothe Correctional Institution and Lebanon Correctional Institution.

Picket lines were reinstated at Lebanon Thursday after an earlier brief appearance, but officials said they were having little influence on operations.

As the picketing continued, state officials said that if membership claims by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association are validated, the union will satisfy the 30 per cent departmental membership requirements, and contract negotiations will open June 2.

State dues checkoff records indicate that CWA, as of April, represented 1,600 of mental health's 15,000 employees, a spokesman said.

Beth Kramer of OCSEA, the system's largest with 5,600 members, indicated her union may not support a strike of mental institutions. She noted her union's feeling that the prison strikes had accomplished nothing, adding:

"If a strike at mental institutions is for the same reason (as the prison strikes) and the same things occur — violence on the picket lines, people losing considerable amounts of work, workers being fired — we would have the same attitude about a strike at the mental institutions."

Dr. Timothy Moritz, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, said he is not aware of any legitimate grounds for a strike.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Kindness Worth A Buck?

DEAR ABBY: While standing in the checkout line in a high grade grocery store, I saw the woman directly ahead of me frantically rummaging around in her purse, looking embarrassed. It seems her groceries had already been checked, and she was a dollar short. I felt sorry for her, so I handed her a dollar. She was very grateful, and insisted on writing my name and address on a loose piece of paper. She stuck it in her purse and said, "I promise I'll mail you the dollar tomorrow."

Well, that was three weeks ago, and I still haven't heard from her! Abby, I think I'm a fairly good judge of character, and I just didn't peg her as the kind who would beat me out of a dollar.

The small amount of money isn't important, but what it did to my faith in people is. I'd like your opinion.

SHY ONE BUCK
DEAR SHY: Don't assume that she deliberately beat you out of a buck. There are other possibilities: (1) She may have misaddressed the envelope, and the dollar went astray.

(2) She may have lost the paper with your name and address on it. (3) The incident could have slipped her mind, and the piece of paper may not surface for years.

You bought a dollars worth of good feeling, so don't feel cheated.

DEAR ABBY: I have been debating for months which of the following I should do regarding a neighbor who has seven children and an unbelievable amount of trash, which, for some strange reason, she doesn't seem able to control.

(1) Buy her seven jumbo cans with tight lids.
(2) Make a phone call requesting that she kindly bag her trash.

(3) Call the police and ask them to give her a ticket for littering.

We live in Poccatello, Idaho, which has the windy city of Chicago beat to pieces when it comes to breezes. This neighbor's trash blows onto my yard, and I am thoroughly sick of it. And if it isn't the wind, it's the stray dogs who drag it all over.

What should I do?

MRS. S. ONE. BONNEVILLE
DEAR MRS. S.: First call your neighbor and ask her if she read DEAR ABBY today. If that doesn't get results, write to me again.

DEAR ABBY: I am a fifth-grade teacher, and my class has just finished an extensive course on understanding handicaps. We had the good fortune to have as guests some extraordinary persons with physical disabilities. They gave their time to let my children listen, question and learn about deafness, blindness, amputation and mental retardation from first-hand sources.

The children were eager to learn about the capabilities of each of these guests as well as the problems they faced because of their handicaps. After the class spent two mornings "handicapped" themselves as part of the course, I'm convinced their understanding has grown at least three sizes.

True, those who are "sickened" by the sight of handicapped people need a lesson in tact, but they also need some correct information to overcome their prejudices.

There are hundreds of people like Diane, Ede, Steve, Charlotte and my father who are willing and eager to teach children about their handicaps. I urge schools and civic groups to seek them out and use their services. They are beautiful people.

A muted note of alarm about the future of Leonid Brezhnev's detente policy is surfacing these days among the Russians, who sound almost as if they are fearful of being caught with a hand in the cookie jar.

"Who-Us?" Moscow seems to act indignantly at the very thought that it had anything to do with American policy failures.

There are palpable reasons for this. Apparently from Moscow's viewpoint this is no time to rock a promising-looking detente boat. What Brezhnev calls his policy of peaceful coexistence has scored points but it has a long distance to travel to prove itself conclusively to all his high-ranking colleagues.

The general secretary still wants a supersummit to wind up the European security conference. He still wants his twoman summit with President Ford in the fall to have a look of value and he wants another big international Communist meeting.

These objectives, each promising specific rewards, depend on a look of continuing relaxation of tension. Yet what has happened in Indochina, what could happen in Portugal, what has not happened in the Middle East, altogether could lower American opinion of the value of doing business with Moscow.

This alarms Moscow and provokes outcries of abused innocence whenever a suggestion is raised that the Russians have anything to do with revolutionary violence and limited wars.

A political commentator of the Novosti press agency in Moscow wrote an indignant letter to The New York Times recently deploring speculation that Indochina and the like might have adverse impact on the detente. The idea of Moscow involvement was just a myth, he expostulated, and "the approach plays into the hands of the enemies of detente."

But to the Communist world the tone is markedly different. Only a few days ago, exulting over Vietnam, Pravda said the outcome there would be "impossible to imagine" without the assistance of the Soviet camp to the Vietnamese Communists. The cause, Pravda said, "triumphed because from the very outset it was supported by the material force and moral-political prestige" of the Soviet Union. It suggested, too, that Indochina demonstrated the worth of the peaceful coexistence policy, an interpretation that might raise some American eyebrows.

Secretary of State Kissinger has warned Moscow against trying to exploit American failures in Indochina and has also reflected agitation about the international Communist hand in Portugal, that shaky western anchor of the Atlantic Alliance.

The Soviet Union also has played its role in producing the woes of the West and the continuing oil threat to its economies inherent in a war situation. The extent to which Moscow is prepared to cooperate toward easing that perennial threat has yet to be made clear.

As Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko met in Vienna this week to discuss current prospects for SALT, the strategic arms limitation talks, both seemed to want to produce something better than deadlock so as to have a document for their chiefs to sign at the Ford-Brezhnev summit in the fall. But genuine progress on nuclear arms limitation seemed unlikely short of the sort of compromise Kissinger had indicated he wouldn't like.

Kissinger and Gromyko also talked about the European security conference, bogged down for many months on the issue of free exchange of persons and information across borders. Brezhnev would like the West to paper over that with some lofty-sounding generalities and clear the way for a summit extravaganza of 35 government chiefs from Europe, the Soviet Union, Canada and the United States.

The Russians have plugged for a

European security arrangement for 21 years, intending to get recognition of Communist Europe's borders as permanent and most likely also seeking to relieve Moscow of worry about Europe at its back, should it have to deal with a rambunctious China.

Brezhnev also wants a big new Communist meeting like the one in Moscow in 1969 which, by Soviet accounts, first approved the whole idea of the detente. He wants not only approval but perhaps also support against China, which would make some European Communists chary of the project. A tottering detente could lessen Brezhnev's chance in this, too.

Brezhnev probably is eager to demonstrate the durability of the detente to the extent of paying off in terms of promised economic and political benefits. He probably regards 1976 as his big year, possibly even his swansong year. At the end of 1976 he will be 70, which has been retirement age for some top Russians in the past.

The 25th Congress of the Soviet Communist party will be in February and Brezhnev likely sees it as a climactic event in his career insuring his permanent place in the books as a Soviet statesman. He needs the detente to work.

Gas Curbs Announced

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Certain industrial customers of East Ohio Gas Co. face curtailment of gas deliveries after April 1, 1976, the company told the state Public Utilities Commission Thursday.

Company spokesmen said curtailment to these customers, already 30 per cent of normal use, could increase to 100 per cent because the gas company's supply of gas has been reduced. Affected are customers that use gas in industrial processes such as heating steel in soaking pits.

East Ohio already has cut back 100 per cent in gas used for industrial boiler fuel. The company said fuel for residential and small commercial users has not been curtailed.

Both East Ohio and Columbia Gas Co., another major gas supplier in Ohio which has to curtail gas deliveries, say they foresee relief in 1977 with the importing of liquified natural gas from Algeria.

More Gardens

Along about this time of the year many people develop a new respect for the farmer, as they nurse tired muscles into bed each night and wonder if that backyard vegetable garden could ever be worth the trouble. Whether it is the first year for the endeavor or the gardener is a veteran, the sod never seems to lose any of its toughness in its first seasonal bout with a shovel. For the novice who thinks the fight is over after the initial preparation rites and the seeds have been planted, nature has a basketful of surprises. Yet to make their appearances are the weeds—the infernal weeds—and the bugs.

The word from the seed companies is that business has never been better. Last year may have set a record for home gardens, but indications are the effort will be further expanded this year.

Those who persevere will do it again, for when harvest time rolls around the memory of aches and pains will subside with each enjoyable meal from the garden. The satisfaction of doing it yourself hides the blemishes.

A Riot To The End

By JIM BISHOP

There is a boat-shaped island in the middle of the East River which should be called the S.S. Broken Heart. The southern section once housed a gray prison. The northern area was New York's poorhouse. Between the two was a sentimental section called Potter's Field.

The tides were swift. Few escaped. The Poormaster fleeced trembling old ladies of their savings. The warden of the prison sold card games, cigarettes, chocolate bars and girls. It was called Blackwell's Island. If there was anything good about it, it was that the rock remained above water.

It was there I met Riol Reilly. He had been sending story ideas to the newspaper. They were in pencil scrawled on paper bags. His proper name was Aloysius, but I dubbed him Riol, not so much because it was alliterative, but because that's what he was good at starting.

Reilly was the size and shape of a mop standing upside down. He had blue beebie eyes, sunset hair and freckles. The grin was permanent and disarming. He was the ultimate conman. He could con me out of five bucks when all I had was four.

He wrote misspelled short stories in the manner of O. Henry. I said I'd give him 10 apiece. "You're a dumb Mick," he said, "but I like you. I'll take 25."

Riol had more color than a half of confetti. When he was free, which was frequently, he spent the winter mornings sitting in my office with his skinny behind on a thumping radiator.

Sometimes, to test his talent, I would throw a word or phrase at him. "A pretty girl comes in from Iowa and gets a job in a chorus line," I might say. Without thought, he would say, "She's beautiful. She is sure that a rich society John is going to be waiting in the theater alley with roses and a wedding ring. What she doesn't know, is that in 10 years she will be too old for the work and she falls in love with a crippled guy who wants to study law. She takes a job in a beanery and brings the tips to him. Etc. Etc. Etc."

"In time he becomes a lawyer, but he always postpones the wedding. Then he attends a musical and falls in love with a young chorus girl from Ohio. The waitress rents a room, and turns on the gas. She doesn't die. A bum in the next room does. The cripple is now a county judge."

"The case comes before him. He must decide whether she is guilty of involuntary manslaughter. Write your own ending."

Reilly was a tubercular alcoholic — aspecial breed. He coughed upward and drank downward. When he got drunk, Reilly always managed to start a saloon argument. He was ruled off more bars than a crooked lawyer.

I tried not to like him. But, whether Reilly was serving 90 days or two years, I saw him at that lousy little island prison and brought Camels and money. He was dying an inch a day.

When he wasn't scribbling stories, Riol was making bets with me. He would bet 10 that the next boat to pass would be a tug, or a tanker. He won enough to keep me hustling. He was sufficiently clever to permit me to win small ones.

If he had a girl, I never met her. If he had a family, he never mentioned it. "Biologically," he said, rolling the word portentously, "I must have had parents. I think they took a quick look and hopped the next rattler out of town."

The last time he was in jail, the face in the visitor's room was as young as ever. The grin was confident. But Reilly the riotous was gone. He accepted the carton of cigarettes, but said he wished I had smuggled a little brandy to him.

"You're gonna die in here," I said. "They're gonna bury you out there in Potter's Field." "Now, now," he said in his teacherish fashion, "you are

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — All through the world of business they are waiting these days for the sound of the economy hitting bottom, hoping that once that ugly clunk is heard they can listen to the sweet music of a recovery.

The anticipation of a bottom being reached soon is based both on the belief that "it can't get much worse" and on the statistical indicators.

Unemployment remains close to 9 per cent of the labor force, corporate profits were off 22.3 per cent in the first quarter, and the Gross National Product has already declined for five straight three-month periods.

Inflation, which tends to decline as recession presses down on the ability and willingness to buy, remained high at 8.5 per cent in the first quarter — but nothing like the 14.4 per cent rate of the previous three months.

Three items are being listened to with special interest, because they will provide clues to the strength and speed of the eventual recovery: Employment, Housing, Automobiles.

EMPLOYMENT—During March and April some signs developed to suggest an easing of the jobless problem. Layoffs declined. Total employment rose in April. The work-week lengthened in some industries.

However, there is also a rising supply of workers, which accounts for the continued high level of unemployment. Chase Manhattan Bank gives this assessment:

"In the months ahead, employment will continue to expand, though probably quite slowly. But improving economic conditions will spur labor force growth, so that the unemployment rate will remain high for some time."

HOUSING—One thing that has been learned in the past couple of months is that just because the thrift institutions have money it doesn't mean they'll be looking for mortgage customers.

The savings and loan associations and savings banks are nervous. With a big federal deficit to be financed, they fear that interest rates in general will shortly begin to rise. Therefore, they're afraid to make long-term, low-rate commitments of their money.

Scores of financial analysts in corporations, banks, brokerage houses and elsewhere are scaling down their estimates of the size of the housing recovery. Some see it still two or three years away.

AUTOMOBILES — While Ford and Chrysler have sharply scaled down their expectations for 1975 and don't seem to be very optimistic about next year either, General Motors remains unconvinced that a recovery isn't coming.

Some analysts, in fact, believe the days of 10 million sales a year won't be back for many years. Among the most pessimistic, Sindlinger & Co., whose services are used by the Big Three manufacturers, maintains that automotive executives looking for big sales in the next few months or year are operating on "hunches, habit and hope rather than the facts."

But if car sales take a sharp turn upward, it will be a clear signal that a major change has taken place in consumer buying attitudes.

Ford May Visit Cincy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The Cincinnati office of the Secret Service confirmed it has begun co-ordination for a possible visit in July by President Gerald R. Ford to the Midwest Governors Conference.

William J. Keating, president of The Cincinnati said the White House had confirmed that the President had received and might be considering an invitation to speak before the group when it meets here.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson addressed the National Governors Conference held in Cincinnati in 1967.

Keating said the invitation has "neither an acceptance or rejection" from Mr. Ford.

Keating said the White House reported the President's midsummer schedule is busy, including a trip to Europe. A spokesman for Vice President Nelson Rockefeller said that the vice president has been called on to fill speaking engagements for Mr. Ford on some occasions.

Secret Service officials said that co-ordinating procedures, such as those now underway, are done routinely in the event Mr. Ford visits the conference. This is a standard procedure whenever the possibility of such a visit arises, the spokesman said.

The independent Republic of Texas, 390,144 square miles, was admitted to the union as a state in 1845.

A preliminary report showed a total of 7,366 persons were living in Circleville, an increase of 317 residents over the 20-year period since the last census.

Work began on the city's new disposal plant to be just to the west of Container Corporation. Treatment under the Travers system promised that no pollution would be thrown into the Scioto River. The sludge collected from the liquids was to be made into forms of high grade fertilizer. The method was guaranteed odorless.

An aged crippled man carrying two sticks of dynamite stopped at Johnson's crossing and told some citizens that the dynamite was to blow up any person who struck him while he was walking. He was traced to a point east of New Holland where it appeared that he had been picked up by a passing motorist.

Three Boy Scouts, Robert and Roderick Watts and Walter Osborn, saved the life of the 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Adkins from drowning in Deercreek where the youths were swimming.

LAFF - A - DAY

"There is one thing — you have to sleep with the light on."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have always heard about hiatus hernia in adults, but I just learned that my nephew was born with this condition.

Miss D. L., W. Va.

Dear Miss L.: It is rare for children to be born with a diaphragmatic (or hiatus) hernia.

Normally, the esophagus or tube which takes food from the mouth to the stomach runs through a normal opening in the diaphragm. Because of some developmental defect, this opening may be enlarged. The consequence is that part of the stomach may squeeze itself through the opening and lie in an abnormal position in the chest, rather than in the abdomen.

Surgery can now be performed, even on newborn infants, to correct the defect. Specialists in the field of pediatric surgery, using the most delicate techniques, have increased the success of this and other operations on the newborn child.

Is it possible to have a fracture of the leg without any injury?

Mr. B. V., Ore.

Dear Mr. V.: Yes, it is. This is known as a "pathological fracture."

In the elderly, where there is marked absorption of calcium, or where there is unsuspected disease of the bone, a fracture may occur with little or no injury.

Occasionally, such a spontaneous fracture may be the first evidence of some underlying existing medical problem. Unfortunately, these fractures are extremely difficult to heal and tend to recur.

I am intrigued by the term "multi-phasic" medical examination. Have I been short-changed on my "complete physicals?"

Mrs. R. Y., Tex.

Dear Mrs. Y.:

A "multi-phasic" medical examination is not very different from the excellent routine physical examination you undoubtedly have had.

Complete study of the chemistry of the blood, urinalysis, electrocardiogram and X-rays are all part of such a study. Computerized techniques may be incorporated.

Yet people must remember that it is the discerning judgment of the physician that avoids indiscriminate testing which looks impressive on a final report, but may not be entirely necessary.

Doctors usually order only those examinations which they feel can contribute to the diagnosis and subsequent treatment of the patient.

Thailand Adapts To Red Neighbors

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand is adapting itself to live with Communist neighbors and moving out of a long period of close association with the United States.

Communist influence appears to be greater than ever since two Indochina states have been taken over by the Communists and the third is slipping fast in that direction.

The waning of American influence was accelerated by the U.S. decision to send Marines to Thailand for the Mayaguez rescue against the expressed will of the Thai government.

With three Communist delegations visiting Thailand this month, pressing for total withdrawal of the remaining American forces in the country, Prime Minister Kukrit Pramoj has begun collecting facts of past U.S.-Thai economic and military agreements for review.

"I can't deny the old saying about us that we bend with the wind," said Foreign Minister Chatichai Choonhavan, a supporter of U.S. Indochina policy. "You and I know which wind is blowing stronger now."

Chatichai ordered all ministries including defense to collect all U.S.-Thai agreement documents and present them to him within two months. He is then to present policy suggestions to the National Security Council and the cabinet.

The Thai ambassador to Washington, who was recalled last week in protest over U.S. use of Thai bases for the rescue operation, will help review Thai policy.

"It will take a period of time before our two countries will be back to the level of previous close relations again," the foreign minister said.

"When a couple get into an argument they normally need time to readjust to one another," he said. "And usually the couple come back to live together happily."

But some high-ranking policy makers in the Foreign Ministry say U.S.-Thai relations may never return to the period before the Mayaguez incident.

"We are being pressured by the strong east and north wind which began before the fall of Indochinese capitals," said a Thai diplomat.

Within two weeks this month official delegations came from Saigon and Hanoi. Both have demanded that Thailand could not establish relations with them unless all U.S. forces are withdrawn from Thai soil.

North Korean diplomats, who also visited this month, posed no pre-conditions for opening relations but also urged removal of U.S. forces.

"We must readjust ourselves to these demands because the Communists are next door to us now. No matter how much we love the American system," the diplomat said.

Dear Editor:

We are pilots for Beckett Aviation. On Monday May 12 we landed at the Pickaway County Airport in Circleville, Ohio in a light business jet.

We would like to commend the community for its beautiful airport. The treatment that we and our passengers received was among the best anywhere. The airport manager and his assistant made us feel very welcome into your community.

It left us with an image of an airport that we would prefer to use rather than return to another airport that does not offer such good service.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor:
Thank you very much for printing the article about the CHS National Honor Society tapping. Many people I've talked to have said that they were glad that the ceremony was publicized and I appreciate your interest in the scholastic achievements of my high school's students.

Sincerely Yours,

Williamsport News

By EILEEN EASTERDAY, Phone 986-3481

Excitement and concern are the two key words for this week. In a small village such as our town when an ambulance is seen hurrying down the street it just naturally brings concerned interest and that's how it was last Thursday evening when Pete Morris had the misfortune to suffer a fall at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, David and Nancy Snyder.

At first it was feared Pete had broken a hip but it turned out to be a badly sprained hip which we are told is indeed extremely painful.

We have deep concern for our much-loved friend "Cotton" Timmons who was rushed to Berger Hospital and is a patient in the ICU (intensive care unit). According to Helen he was feeling somewhat better on Tuesday and we do hope he continues to improve steadily. Farmer friends have rallied 'round and are completing the field work. Wonderful to have such helpful fellows for friends.

Our neighbor across the street, Luther Anderson, is still a patient at Berger and his condition has not shown too much improvement. Let us all pray a little harder for him.

Excitement was the word at the Thompsons' home on Sunday when open house was observed in honor of Marvie baby and Dolly reaching the 25th year of marital togetherness. More than 100 well-wishers, which included their family doctor and the minister who officiated at the wedding ceremony, called between the hours of 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. Dolly was more nervous and excited than 25 years ago, so she said.

The refreshment table in the dining room was covered with a white cloth trimmed in silver and other decorations in keeping with the occasion were large silver figures of 25 encircled in silver laurel wreaths. In the center of the table was a 2-tiered cake with a bride and groom at the top. The cake was flanked by silver candles in silver holders. A silver nut dish and silver candy trays containing nuts and mints were also on the main table.

An auxiliary table held a large silver coffee server (compliments of Dolly's mother Mrs. Ernest Weaver) and sheet cakes with each piece decorated with a lovely icing rosebud.

Family and friends came from Mt. Gilead, Columbus, Circleville, Ashville, Chillicothe, Stoutsville, Washington C.H., Tarlton, Ray, Whisler, Clarksburg and locally.

Greetings from a former exchange son, Alejandro Garces of Bogota, Colombia, were enjoyed, too.

Canasta Club met at the home of Mae (Mrs. Herschel) Litter for the May get together. That Mae could do nothing wrong and drew the most fantastic cards so away with high prize she waited. Esther (Mrs. Charlie) Picklesimer went home with traveling; low was captured by Colleen (Mrs. Max) Justice and the door prize was taken by Pearl (Mrs. Purl) Cochenour.

Helen Timmons subbed for Dorothy (Mrs. Lawrence) Carle and other members playing were Margene (Mrs. Harvey) Looney, Jackie (Mrs. Sonny) Hopper and yours truly. On the refreshment table was, among many other things, that super delicious chicken salad that is Mae's specialty. Watch for the recipe in the festival cookbook.

Name Change

Speaking of the festival, we are now officially name changed to the Deercreek Dam Days Festival as of May 15. Tours of the Deercreek Dam will be promoted in cooperation with personnel at the Dam. Close ties with the historical sulphur spring will still be kept but in keeping with the modern concept of a tangible objective the name change was deemed desirable from a growth point of view.

A leaflet depicting the many festival events in Pickaway County are now available and will be placed in business places throughout the community. This is a project outgrowth of members from all the festivals meeting each month at the Circleville Chamber of Commerce office in conjunction with the Bicentennial Celebration. Each event listed is officially recognized by the Pickaway County Bicentennial Commission. The meetings will continue each month so as to further the "cause" during 1975 and 1976.

Bob and Mildred "Sis" Peters were with Cotton and Helen Timmons for a few days and have now returned to their McAllen, Texas residence. They are Helen's son-in-law and daughter. The Peters couple were doing their traveling by car.

O.K., alright, don't some of you people ever forget anything? I wish I could have a dollar for everyone who has asked about the weight losing competition between my sister-in-law and myself — I could take a vacation away from the questions! So, I guess it is rather obvious that it wasn't this gal who won. Edna really trounced me good in the contest. Blast it! Been thinking about giving it another whirl, hmmm.

I can't recall that we had all that much April showers but say, haven't we had beautiful May flowers? All around the area they have really been gorgeous. One thing I have not seen that I remember with some nostalgia from yonder years is a snowball bush. We had several at ye olde homestead. Lilacs, tulips, peonies, spirea and poppies have outdone themselves.

Be with you again next week, be the Lord willing. Take care.

Think About: If you growl all day, it's only natural that you feel dog tired at night.

Memorial Airport News

By LEE JACKSON
Airport Manager

Well, another great week for Pickaway Mini International Airport. That's one in a row, or is it two or three? Can't count any farther than that, as my foot is getting cold and I have to put my shoe back on.

On May 14th, we had our first meeting of the Pickaway County Aviation Association and had a great turnout. About 30 people of all ages congregated here including five women and four youngsters.

Temporary officers were elected to get things rolling. Ron O'Connor, more commonly known around here as "Crank from the Bank," was elected president. Bob Lyons, "The Red Baron of Columbus," promised to keep both eyes on Ron and was elected vice president. Secretary-treasurer is old Sticky Fingers Jackson. Can you imagine anybody trusting me with money, more less sit on their laps and take dictation?

Fox Supports Fox Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— When a bill limiting the hunting season on foxes came to a vote on the floor of the Ohio House, one of its cosponsors took a personal interest in its passage — Rep. Michael Fox, R-58 Hamilton.

"Some people might say that by cosponsoring this bill, I'm involved in a conflict of interest," Fox told his chuckling colleagues. "But, as a freshman legislator, I've learned that sometimes you have to take extraordinary measures to protect yourself."

The bill, which limits fox hunting to a period between Nov. 15 and March 1, was approved 79-10.

Gov. James A. Rhodes is enthusiastic about his energetic director of mental health and retardation, Dr. Timothy Moritz.

Newsman say they find Moritz, 38, a refreshing contrast to the veteran bureaucrats who dominate the governor's cabinet. "Dr. Tim," as the governor calls him, was imported from suburban Rockland County, N.Y., where he was community mental health director. He is one of the few cabinet members who did not hold a post in Rhodes' previous administrations.

"He has a free hand," Rhodes said recently. "He is young and aggressive and he has intestinal fortitude."

Rhodes is quick to point out that, although Moritz came from New York, he is a native Ohioan.

Rep. Robert E. Netzley, the maverick Republican from Laura's 81st district, is not one to be ignored or taken for granted, even if he is a loner in a hopelessly outnumbered minority.

During a rather dull debate on the state's multibillion dollar budget, Netzley rose from his chair to address the chair with a wad of crumpled paper in his mouth.

"Mister Speaker," he shouted in a tone distorted by the paper.

"I appreciate very much that you recognized me," he told Democratic Speaker Vernal Riffe, D-89 New Boston. "It isn't just you. I understand people on this side said I wasn't supposed to talk."

Having gained center stage in the 99-member chamber, Netzley succeeded in winning an amendment removing budget language that would have prohibited state or local subsidies to go for support of intercollegiate athletics.

Better yet, his amendment prompted a debate over the issue between two Democratic legislators who room together when in Columbus.

Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, the outspoken Toledo Democrat from the 46th District, offered sharp advice for Republicans who attempted unsuccessfully to revise the state budget as written by majority leaders.

"You want to write a budget?" he asked minority members. "Get yourself 50 votes."

Wilkowski's ire was sparked by a

GOP amendment seeking to remove from the budget funding for one of his pet projects, the proposed Ohio Rail Authority.

Democrats control the House 59-40. Fifty votes are required for passage of legislation.

Malpractice Bill Approved By Panel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Insurance Subcommittee has unanimously approved medical malpractice legislation designed to offer protection to doctors unable to afford rates charged by private companies.

The committee voted 7-0 Thursday to send the complex, heavily amended bill back to the full Insurance, Utilities and Financial Institutions Committee Tuesday for further study.

Rep. William J. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, who is the committee chairman and sponsor of the bill, said he would seek a recommendation from the committee during the first week of June.

Hoosiers Saved From Waters

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Four Lafayette residents swept into the rain-swollen Wildcat Creek were rescued by state police and sheriff's deputies Thursday.

Officials said the quartet — Carla Hamilton, 20; Alan Guajardo, 18; David W. Crouch, 17, and Frank Guajardo, 15 — were floating on inner tubes in the creek near the intersection of Interstate 65 and Indiana 25 northeast of here.

A passerby notified authorities the swift current had swept the youths downstream.

Sheriff's Sgts. Max Wise and Jack Chase used a boat to rescue two victims who had pulled themselves onto a small island. The others, clinging to branches, were helped to safe ground by Troopers John Lee and Richard Jozwiak.

"We've got a lot of support for the bill as it now stands," Hinig said. "I would hope we could get swift action on the House floor."

The proposal would create a state-operated joint underwriting pool of insurers to guarantee insurance to all licensed doctors who are unable to get protection through private firms.

The measure is in response to national concern over soaring rates and diminishing availability of malpractice insurance, resulting in part from lucrative claim settlements against doctors.

Hinig's bill would limit settlements for "pain and suffering" when no death occurs to a maximum $200,000 and require compulsory arbitration before a claim is taken to court.

If both claimant and doctor agree, the legislation would provide for binding arbitration to settle the matter. However, the claimant would be given 60 days to "opt out" of the arbitration agreement under an amendment adopted by the subcommittee Thursday.

The plan would put a lid on lawyers' fees ranging from 50 per cent of the first $1,000 recovered to 10 per cent of any amount over $100,000. The Ohio bar Association opposes this restriction and has offered its own bill which leaves out the limitation on lawyers' fees.

The bill, originally drafted by the Rhodes' administration, has been expanded in subcommittee to include Blue Cross, Blue Shield and other prepaid hospital plans in the underwriting pool. The state Insurance Department version called for a pool of private medical liability insurance companies.

Viet Disintegration Bared

SAIGON (AP) — One commanding general blew his brains out after ordering his 15,000-man infantry division to surrender without a fight.

Another fled in panic after commandeering the only jeep still running in his shell-blasted camp. He was captured wading a river.

That was the inglorious end of the two South Vietnamese infantry divisions defending Saigon in the last hours of the Vietnam War, the finale of the 50-day rout of the million-man, American-created Army of the Republic of Vietnam that began in the Central Highlands and spread down the coast until Saigon itself was left defenseless and defeated.

Reports of the final hours of the 15-year war have trickled into Saigon from survivors of the two divisions involved — the 5th north of Saigon and the 25th to the northwest. They tell of men fleeing in blind panic from murderous accurate artillery fire, of officers deserting, of complete resignation to defeat by whole units, and of a few who tried to salvage some honor from the sudden stunning victory grabbed by the Communists.

The pattern of defeat became evident early in April when elite units around Hue and Da Nang fled as Communist forces massed in the hills.

The debacle allowed Communist forces to encircle Saigon a full week before the fall of the city, and the message was apparent — surrender or else.

In the last week, only the 25th and 5th Divisions stood between the Communists and mastery of the capital. The Communists moved first against the 25th, slamming shells for three days into the Cu Chi base camp, which the U.S. 25th Division had carved out of the jungle 20 miles northwest of Saigon in 1966.

The Communist forces launched the overwhelming last attack on the Cu Chi base at 6 a.m. on April 29.

The first target was a division training center whose soldiers broke and ran in the first minutes. An hour later Communist tanks were inside Cu Chi.

"At that moment I saw that all men were going their own way and not following orders," said a staff officer who was present. "All looked for a way of escape to avoid fire and shelling. I myself ran away, jumping over any kind of obstacle including barbed wire toward the main gate of the base to seek a way out. What was most dramatic were the wounded. Some had lost one leg but still tried to drag themselves on — to where nobody knew. Other wounded were ignored by fellow combatants."

"When Gen. Ba and his staff reached the main gate at the base more than 1,000 men were trying, each in his own way, to escape, climbing over the gate, crossing fields of mines. Quite a few had been shot dead by fellow combatants for earlier having refused to obey the order to resist."

"Gen. Ba himself jumped on the only jeep left, belonging to the artillery commander. He ordered the gate opened so he could flee. After the gates opened, a fleeing crowd swelled to more than 2,000 as families joined soldiers. They looked like bees fleeing an endangered hive. Communist guns began firing from nearby but they were firing into the air to stop the soldiers and not to kill them."

The officer was captured and held for a few days in a school building, then released to his family in Saigon.

Gen. Ba, according to other reports, got as far as a river about three miles from Cu Chi, but the bridge across it was gone. He called in a rescue helicopter by radio, but it was shot as it was coming in for him. He was captured as he tried to wade across the river.

Meanwhile, the staff of the 5th Division at Lai Khe, about 35 miles north of Saigon, was apprehensively assessing the situation. The Lai Khe base, also created by American forces, stood across Highway 13, long regarded as an obvious Communist approach to Saigon. By late in the day of April 29, the division headquarters had lost contact with the corps headquarters at Bien Hoa, and the division commander, Brig. Gen. Le Nguyen Vy, was reduced to following the war news on Radio Saigon. It told him nothing of what was happening to the 25th Division.

Gen. Vy ordered all vehicles regrouped in preparation for the whole division to move to Saigon for a final defense of the capital. But on the morning of April 30 Vy decided on another course of action.

He called a staff meeting at 7 a.m., which was three hours before President Duong Van Minh announced an unconditional surrender. All were present except the deputy division commander, who had fled from the country in an American plane.

Gen. Vy told his staff that Saigon would soon fall. He turned over command to Col. Tu Van and said: "As an officer of the South Vietnamese army, I must act for the honor of the army, but you must protect the lives of the soldiers. Good luck to you."

The general went to his house, lit a cigarette and shot himself.

Col. Tu Van found the body and ordered it buried with full military honors.

Pleasure boating lured more than 48 million Americans onto the water more than once or twice in 1974, statistics show, and these Americans spent $4.6 billion on their boating.

GETTING A NEW START

"I never want to move again!" I told a friend. Even before the moving van arrived, there were days of sorting, discarding and carefully packing the things we treasure. There were farewells and last minute errands.

Then early one morning, the huge truck came lumbering up the street, and the movers began loading beds, tables, chairs, dishes and books. After several hours, the last box was in the van, and our belongings were on their way to a new home.

A new home, new friends, new community—so many things with which to become acquainted.

The church is a fine place to get a new start—to make new friends and strike up a vital relationship with the Maker of us all.

American Freedom Train Begins Central Ohio Visit

By DAVE AMEY
Herald City Editor

The American Freedom Train, the only mobile and visible national bicentennial project, began its 12-day visit to Central Ohio Thursday amid a carnival-like setting on the grounds of the Defense Construction Supply Center, 4200 E. Broad St., in Columbus.

The historic red, white and blue 25-car train powered by a steam locomotive was welcomed to Central Ohio by Carl Graf, coordinator of the festival committee for the Central Ohio Bicentennial Observance, which sponsored the visit.

In the opening ceremonies Thursday morning, Graf pointed out that the train exemplifies the theme of the local bicentennial celebration, "A past to remember, a future to mold."

The Freedom Train, which greets visitors to the grounds, will be easily recognizable from the DCSC parking lot.

Visitors, once inside, will travel through the 10 exhibit cars by way of a unique moving walk-way. The 20 minute tour, a multi-media presentation of the nation's 200-year heritage, offers special exhibits on art, architecture, science, entertainment, literature, exploration, origins, government, inventions, sports, and transportation.

The exhibit cars included in the tour display over 500 priceless original documents, artifacts, films, models, replicas and memorabilia collected from museums and individual collectors throughout the United States.

Individual hand-held "Sound Wands" provide each visitor with a running narrative, including historic voices, music, and other sounds.

The train will bring the nation's historic treasures, like Ben Franklin's draft of the Articles of Confederation and George Washington's copy of the Constitution, to the hometowns of Americans who would otherwise have to travel to more than 200 museums, libraries, universities and private collections in 36 states and Puerto Rico to see them.

Included in the exhibits will be artifacts from nearly every phase of American life, ranging from Paul Revere's saddle bags to moon rocks and a lunar rover, from Thomas Paine's "Common Sense" to Dr. Martin Luther King's vestment robe and Bible, from President Kennedy's rocking chair and early handwritten draft of his inaugural address to Navajo sand painting, from Henry Aaron's bat that hit the historic 714th homer to Judy Garland's dress from the "Wizard of Oz."

Other artifacts include Emma Lazarus' famous poem that appears on the Statue of Liberty, Lincoln's stovepipe hat, Will Rogers' rope and spurs, paintings and sculpture by Peale, Sully, Homer, Benton, Sloan, Remington and Saint Gaudens, Franklin D. Roosevelt's mother-of-pearl cigar holder, a fingerless baseball glove, and a collection of original U.S. working patent models.

The Freedom Train is equipped to handle wheel chairs and handicapped persons. For visitors with oversized wheel chairs, special chairs will be provided at the train's entrance.

There is an admission charge to tour and display cars of the train only.

Youths 18 and under and senior citizens 65 and over must pay $1, while regular admission price is $2.

entertainment on the grounds are free, however.

Some of the local exhibits include a series of pictorial lighted panels depicting the history of the American Flag, a petting zoo with live animals provided by the Columbus Zoo, antique automobiles and aircraft, and local art and craft displays.

Entertainment has been scheduled throughout the 12 days.

Included in the Freedom Train display, but in a different part of the grounds, are two glass-enclosed showcase cars which house a 1904 Oldsmobile that won the first transcontinental race; the Freedom Bell, a 7½ foot bell, twice the size model of the Liberty Bell that is a gift to the nation by the American Legion; the lunar rover used by astronauts on the Moon; and antique railroad equipment.

An estimated 700,000 people have toured the train since its national dedication in Wilmington, Del., on April 1. It is estimated that during the next 21 months over 10 million people will tour the train and another 50 million will observe the train from trackside as it passes through communities.

Next stop for the train is Cincinnati.

The American Freedom Train will be open for viewing each day from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and until midnight on Friday and Saturday. Tickets can be purchased at all Central Ohio Ticket offices, Sears stores, and at the exhibit.

Prison To Be Town 'Industry'

JEAN, Nev. (AP) — Not everybody wants a state prison in his backyard. But Peter Simon figures a prison will make this tiny desert town blossom.

At 24, Simon owns Jean, a sagebrush and sand town of 80 residents on the main highway between Los Angeles and Las Vegas.

After opposition developed to a proposed $7.4 million prison in Las Vegas, Simon offered 96 acres here and found legislators and Gov. Mike O'Callaghan willing to support Jean as an alternate site.

Simon's bid is expected to be approved this legislative session with construction to follow over two years.

Simon, who inherited part of the town from his father and bought up the rest in 1973, said he had thought of building homes in the town, 28 miles south of Las Vegas.

But home building is a risk, he said. "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. This prison is guaranteed to put Jean on the map."

And a prison is "a pollution-free, recession-proof 'industry' with a guaranteed growth rate," he says.

Simon says residents in the old railroad and mining town won't mind the prison. Most of the adults work for Simon in his string of roadside services.

Simon figures his enterprises will boom thanks to the traffic flow that will accompany the prison. Prison guards probably will locate here, creating a larger, more stable population, he says.

Jean now consists of a casino, bar, restaurant, motel, fuel pumps, about seven houses and 25 trailers, and a small museum where Simon displays the car in which infamous bank robbers Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker were shot to death by lawmen in the 1930s.

State officials prefer a new prison in southern Nevada because all existing penal facilities are in Carson City, more than 400 dusty miles north of here.

The prison would be located about three-quarters of a mile from the road. It would be fenced, without guard towers, to hold youthful offenders with good chances of rehabilitation.

Simon's even willing to put in power, water and sewage connections for the prison at his own expense. He says he already had planned such improvements at a cost of about $250,000 and the added work will only run about $100,000 more.

But Simon — in a state known for its gambling — says he's "hedging my bet" because he also owns the town of Death Valley Junction, Calif., just over Laplancers call the bear, "which has the strength of 10 men and the wit of 12," the Dog of God.

On Books And Activities At The Library

When you're planning your reading for lazy Summer days, be sure to make a note of the Summer schedule of hours at the Pickaway County District Public Library. Beginning on May 27, the library will observe the following hours: Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m.-6 p.m.; Friday through Saturday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. The facility will be closed all day on May 26, in observance of Memorial Day.

Graduation, change-of-pace menus, allergies, and outside activities all have a place in the summer scheme of things. Several new books have arrived to help you in these areas. For the graduate, a new guide titled "Alternatives To College" by Miriam Hecht and Lillian Traub should be of great use to those who do not wish to pursue a college education. There are also many books available on financial aid for education, career testing, and college requirements.

This time of year seems to bring out a variety of allergies in people. "Allergies and Your Child" by Dr. Doris J. Rapp has good information to help parents recognize allergies and to prevent them by taking precautions. "The Complete Allergy Guide" by Drs. Rapoport and Linde is another good source of information for allergy sufferers.

Appetites need perking up in hot weather. "Country Fair Cookbook" edited by Elise Manning is guaranteed to do that. "Jams And Jellies" by Wejman and St. Peter combines mouth-watering recipes with interesting essays and charming illustrations. "Miracle Blender Cookbook" from Doubleday and "Crockery Cookery" by Mabel Hoffman give you time to enjoy summer activities and serve tempting meals at the same time. "Favorite Natural Foods" by Beatrice Hunter can help you eat better for less.

Three new guides for outdoor activities include: "Dictionary Of Golf" by Ken Adwick for the golfer, "Dwarf Shrubs" by Donald Wyman for the gardener, and "Field Book Of Ponds and Streams" by Ann Morgan for the naturalist.

For some serious reading, "For The Defense" by F. Lee Bailey describes the flamboyant defense attorney's outstanding cases since his earlier book. The My Lai massacre case is included.

Jimmy Breslin's "How The Good Guys Finally Won" is another version of Nixon's ordeal with Watergate.

The John Kennedy assassination is the subject of "Assassination Tapes" by George O'Toole. This one explores the conspiracy theory by way of a new electronic machine.

"The Lusitania" by Colin Simpson is a probe into one of the most fateful of all sea disasters.

Real-life murder sometimes over shadows the fictional plots. "The Road To Yuba City" by Tracy Kidder is a journey into the Juan Corona Murders of 25 migrant workers. "The Man With The Candy" by Jack Olsen is the story of the Houston mass murders of 30 young boys. A modern western tale of big ranching and murder is the true story of "The Mullendore Murder Case" by Jonathan Kvitny.

The new biographies run the gamut from baseball to psychics. A beautiful browsing book is Richard Ketchum's "The World Of George Washington." Another soldier and battlefield commander is the subject of "Patton" by H. Essame. While not a soldier, Bob Hope was, nevertheless, an important part of many American soldiers in combat. "The Last Christmas Show" by Hope is his own story of entertaining servicemen for more than 30 years.

"Uri Geller: My Story" is the well-known psychic's own description of his awareness of special powers and the problems caused by them.

Joe DiMaggio, the reclusive baseball star, as seen through the eyes of his friends, is the subject of "Where Have You Gone" by Maury Allen.

Fiction readers have a large choice this week. New historical fiction includes: "The Fireship" by C. Northcote Parkinson, a sea tale of the Royal Navy's war against the French; "Disraeli Rising" by Maurice Edelman a novel of the statesman's young-man-about-town years. Victorian England is the locale for "The Admiral's Lady" by Mary Ann Gibbs.

Fifteenth Century Scotland is the setting for "Lady Of Monkton" by Elizabeth Byrd. "The Black Pearls" by Robert Kerr is intriguing in Sixteenth Century Europe.

Modern submarine warfare in WW II makes "The Boat" by Buchheim a novel of adventure.

Richard Condon's new novel is titled "Money Is Love." It's well endowed with humor.

New romantic suspense includes: "Tower Of The Crow" by Dora Polk, "The Place Of Stones" by Constance Heaven, "Highland Fling" by May Mackintosh, and "Raven's Forge" by Jennie Melville.

It's a good week for reading at the library! Don't forget the Summer hours in effect. Pick up a book and get the reading habit.

Burglar Gets Appropriate Data

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Crime definitely was involved in a recent car break-in in suburban Lakewood.

Cindy Haley of Lakewood, a Kent State University graduate student, told police last week that someone broke into her car, ignored a pizza on the front seat, and made off with books and papers that represented about 300 hours of research for several of her courses.

All dealt with her major: criminology.

SAMPLE DISPLAY—Franklin Delano Roosevelt is highlighted in this diorama recalling memories of the Great Depression and World War II. It is located in the American Freedom Train's "Conflict and Resolution" car and is one of four such dioramas designed to vividly portray the American spirit so necessary in overcoming difficulty during times of crisis. The microphones are from the same era as Roosevelt's famous fireside chats, the newspapers are originals and there is a little-known memo from Winston Churchill discussing international policy regarding the Atom bomb.

Odd Trike Works Well

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — What do you get when you cross a station wagon, a motorcycle and a beer keg?

Hairdresser Jay Mann said you get a lot of stares. Mann, 31, of Cincinnati, took the engine and suspension system of a Volkswagen station wagon and the front end of a conventional motorcycle and welded them into a gigantic "trike," or three wheeled motorcycle.

"It runs good but it sure doesn't look good," said Mann. He uses a stainless steel beer keg for a gasoline tank and painted the lone fender yellow to match his helmet.

His wife, Susie, has ridden in the back only once. The neighbors complain about its appearance and the noise.

"When he turns it on in the garage, it shakes the whole house," said the wife.

It took him three weeks and an investment of $750 to put together the vehicle — designated a "self-assembled homemade motorcycle" by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Comments from passing motorists don't bother Mann.

"They may be saying things but I can't hear them," he said.

Single Plate For Autos Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans with cars that have no center spot for front bumper license plates probably will want to watch a bill introduced in the Senate Wednesday by a Cleveland.

Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22, cites as the main goal of his bill, however, the chance to save some taxpayers' money. It would require that Ohio motor vehicles bear only one plate — on the rear.

"Indiana, Pennsylvania, Florida, and many other states have used one license plate for many years...there is no logical reason for Ohio to continue to throw away the taxpayers' money," Calabrese said.

The senator said preliminary estimates place the amount of savings at $918,000 to $1.25 million, not including shipping and handling costs. His measure does not contemplate a reduction in license plate fees, he said.

The Red And Black

Red, Black Staff Featured

By KATHY BOWERS

Each week of the school year Circleville High School news is put out in the form of the Red and Black page that is printed Friday nights in the Circleville Herald. There are 16 members on the Red and Black staff this year.

Senior Becky Moorehead is a second-year staff member. Her duties have included writing stories, taking pictures, and, occasionally, typing. She is also the president of Girls' Athletic Association, and she was on the girls' volleyball and baseball teams. She is a track statistician.

Sheri Smith, senior, is also a two-year staff veteran. Taking pictures and writing articles have been her duties. She is captain of the Tigerette drill team and is a member of band, GAA, National Honor Society, and Student Council. Sheri feels Red and Black has helped her to "better express herself." Scott and riding bikes are her hobbies. She plans to attend Columbus Technical School to become a dental technician.

This is the first year on the staff for senior Patty Becker. Student Council, GAA, Curtain Callers, Hi-Y, and Audic Visual aide are some of her other activities at CHS. Arts, crafts, and Sunday afternoons are her likes. Patty plans to attend Ohio State University this fall and major in home economics. She feels writing for the Red and Black page has helped better her English and has helped her realize how much work goes into a newspaper. She writes and proof reads.

Kathy Bowers, senior, is also a first-year member of the staff. She is a member of band and stage band and is head majorette. She said she enjoys Red and Black because it's fun and informative. Writing stories and poetry, twirling, and music are some of her likes. Kathy has been accepted at Franklin University to study journalism.

Tammy Davis, senior, will be attending Ohio University branch in Lancaster to major in social work but will minor in journalism. She enjoys swimming, tennis, and having a good time. She is a member of Service Over Self Club, and the Explorers. She was a basketball statistician.

Senior Libby Goeller has enjoyed her first year on the staff because she has gotten to know more people and has been able to talk to them. Eating and watching sports are Libby's likes. Her extra-curricular activities include NHS, English Merit Society, Latin Club, and GAA. Libby will attend Otterbein College to major in a foreign language.

Also serving her first year on the staff is Mary Horst, senior. Mary will attend Ohio Northern next year to study education and journalism. She enjoys sewing and is a member of SOS, NHS, EMS, and GAA. She feels Red and Black has helped her because she "knows more of what's going on in the school."

Leigh Hritz is also in her first year on the staff. She feels that Red and Black has helped her meet people and improve her English. She is a member of GAA, Curtain Callers, Hi-Y, EMS, and NHS. In her spare time she enjoys riding bikes, golfing, and going to movies. Next year she will attend Ohio Dominican College to study political science and pre-law.

Senior Evelyn Howard is a member of Hi-Y, Student Council, EMS, and NHS. In her spare time she enjoys archery, music and bike riding. Evelyn will attend Flagler College in St. Augustine, Florida.

Lowell Hunter, senior, is in his first year on the staff. He said he enjoys the challenge of the varied assignments written during this year. Besides Red and Black, Lowell is president of Chess Club and a member of EMS and Hi-Y. When he has spare time, he enjoys a rousing game of ping pong, chess, or basketball. Next year he will attend Ohio University in Athens to major in psychology.

Vicki Marshall, senior, feels that Red and Black gave her experience talking to people. She's listed among "Who's Who Among American High Schools." She was a varsity cheerleader and a member of GAA, Student Council, EMS, and NHS. She enjoys swimming, golf, and tennis. She will attend Mt. Carmel School of Nursing. Vicki's main duties have been typing and writing articles for the page.

Another senior is Kim McGuire, who is one of the typists and writers who helps meet the weekly deadlines for the page. Kim feels the staff work has given her experience and given her the chance to find out what's going on in the school. Kim is a member of NHS, Student Council, GAA, band, and stage band. She enjoys swimming and will attend Mt. Carmel School of Nursing.

Another first year staff member is Riley Rose, senior. Band, stage band, and choir are his other activities. Riley said he enjoys playing drums, basketball, and frisbies. He says Red and Black has helped him be able to talk to people better, to write non-biased, and to deliver facts. Next fall he's attending Ohio University as a music major.

The last senior staff member is Cathy Routt. "It's interesting knowing how a newspaper is run," she commented. She is a member of GAA, band, and Student Council, and she is color guard co-captain. Cathy enjoys sewing, playing piano, and lying out in the sun. She will attend Ohio University in Lancaster to study social work. She is a photographer for the staff.

"I like to write," said Marsh Denney, junior, when asked why she liked Red and Black. She is thinking along the lines of journalism when she graduates. In her spare time she enjoys bikes, camping, and swimming. She is a member of SOS, and she will be on the staff again next year.

Susan Simison, a junior, enjoys Red and Black and will also be on the staff again next year. She is a member of the Tigerette drill team, EMS, and GAA. She enjoys bowling, watching sports, animals, and marching. She says Red and Black has helped her be able to meet and talk to people.

In addition to their weekly responsibilities for the Red and Black page, this staff has put out three editions of Tiger Tracks, CHS's own newspaper, which included advertising for the first time this year.

Officers are Jeff Lackey, president; Donna Wickline, vice-president; Sam Webb, treasurer; and Dawnel Bergen, secretary.

Commenting on the office of president, Lackey stated, "I would like to reach an agreement concerning the smoking policy that will satisfy the students, parents, faculty, and the school board and to develop better communication between the Student Council, faculty, school board, and the students."

Vice-president Donna added, "I hope to get more people interested in what's going on in school."

Vice-president Donna added, "I hope to get more people interested in what's going on in school."

"I would like to make Student Council a better club," suggested Webb, new treasurer.

Dawnel stated that she would like to get more students involved in school and in Student Council activities. She would also like to see better relations between Student Council and the administration. "I hope to make Student Council better, if possible," the new secretary said.

Miss Carol Parker, Student Council advisor, stated, "I'm looking forward to next year's Student Council. We have a combination of experienced council members and new people who can provide new blood for the council. I hope their enthusiasm continues, and we have an active 1975-76."

Guidance Guidelines

By RICHARD FISHER

A questionnaire was mailed to all 1974 CHS graduates in February and March to determine what they had done after leaving high school and to solicit their evaluation of various high school experiences. This procedure, used annually, provides an opportunity to receive direct information from these graduates; however, only slightly over half returned their responses.

This year about 30 per cent of those responding were employed full-time. Most were working for Pickaway County employers. Another nine per cent was reported unemployed. While this figure is the highest of recent years, it compares with the 9.4 per cent unemployed in Ohio in March.

Another 53 per cent were attending a formal higher-education program—most in colleges and universities as well as seven other institutions of higher education. Colleges in seven states besides Ohio had students enrolled from this group.

As usual, graduates reported that English and other language arts subjects were most helpful to them of the high school subjects they had taken. Business subjects, science, math, and social studies followed in that order. Parents and current students may take note of this to help them think about what they should take in high school to prepare for the future.

Herald Sports Editor

The world renowned evangelist Oral Roberts always says "Something good is going to happen to you today", and if we may take the liberty to use his famous statement, we would like to say that "something good is going to happen to the Pickaway Countians" Saturday.

By this we are referring to the Pickaway County Baseball Tournament being held at Logan Elm High School. This is the third year that Logan Elm coach Vic Pontius and his staff have held the affair and we must say they have done a fine job. It takes a lot of hard work to run a tournament like this and we must say that Vic deserves a lot of credit—not only for the hard work that he puts in getting the field in shape but all the little details that have to be handled to make it a success.

This will be the first year that it will really be a Pickaway County Tournament as all four county schools will be competing for the first time. Teays Valley and Logan Elm will meet in the 10 a.m. opener with Circleville and Westfall colliding in the second contest at 1 p.m. The two winners will meet in the championship game at 4 p.m. There will not be a consolation game.

Westfall did not compete, due to other commitments, the first two years but will be there in full force tomorrow. Zane Trace made the fourth team in the first year and last year it was a three team event, Circleville, Logan Elm and Teays Valley.

Teays Valley took the championship in 1973 with Logan Elm grabbing the title last year.

It makes a grand way to spend a day and we would like to see a big turnout for the event. You'll not only see some fine baseball but have a chance to "shoot the breeze" with old friends and make some new ones.

There will be a refreshment stand on the premises to handle the hungry fans. We have also noticed a lot of cars in the parking lot with the trunk open and the family and friends sharing a picnic lunch. By the way, we accept all handouts.

This will probably be the last chance for us to see a lot of fine athletes who have provided us with plenty of action in all sports during their high school careers. Lets show up in large numbers and give them a real send off.

We understand that its a busy season for a lot of the farm folks but we'd sure like to see them take a couple hours off and watch their youngster compete—After all, he is the most important crop they will ever raise.

When he gets his pitch and slams it over the fence, we hope he doesn't round third base saying to himself "I wish my Mom and Dad could have seen that". When you are seeing it happen its a wonderful feeling to have your chest swell with pride as you rap the guy sitting next to you in the ribs with your elbow and say "that's my kid who hit that". It will be a great show and we hope to see all of you there.

Oh—By the way—The price is right—It's free.

Our "fearless" forecast—If Lynn Lott gets hot and comes through with the shot, he could take the pot that is being sought in the Danny Thomas Memphis Golf Classic.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

4 Gridders Face Charges Of Fighting

ATLANTA (AP)—Four Georgia Tech football players have been bound over to criminal court on charges stemming from an incident at a night club during which a policeman suffered a broken arm.

Three of the players suffered minor injuries in the incident. "We had to put in a help call," said Claude R. Wheeler, the officer who was injured. "It took about six, seven, eight cars to get the situation calmed down."

Charged in the incident were Lenny Sernulka, 21, a junior linebacker from Warren, Ohio; Scott Witmer, 21, a sophomore linebacker from Winter Park Fla.; Tony Lubischer, 22, a junior defensive tackle from Fanwood, N.J. and Herbert Jenkins, 19, a sophomore linebacker from Warner Robins, Ga.

They face charges including simple battery and obstructing an officer, a police spokesman said.

Municipal Court Judge Ed Brock fined Sernulka $55 Thursday for "creating a turmoil" and bound him over on $1,400 bond. Lubischer was placed under $900 bond and Jenkins and Witmer $700 bonds.

A doorman at the night club told Brock the four had been disorderly for some time when he called police.

Tech Athletic Director Bobby Dodd said no action would be taken until Coach Pepper Rodgers returns Saturday.

Phils Face Avenging Cincy Reds

CINCINNATI (AP)—If the Memorial Day weekend is for remembering, the Cincinnati Reds have a recent memory they want to avenge, the four game drubbing they suffered last week at the hands of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Reds open a three game series today with the Phils before Montreal comes in Monday for a Memorial Day doubleheader in which Reds President Bob Howsam has scheduled a spectacular military show.

The series with the Phillies will mark the first appearance of Dick Allen since he returned to play after announcing his retirement. Allen, however, is hitting only .174 and the Phils have just lost three straight games.

The Reds get another crack at Tom Underwood, one of the pitchers who defeated them in the midweek series at Philadelphia and Gary Nolan will be looking to avenge his loss in the series as well.

The Memorial Day show will feature the U.S. Army band from Fort Hays in Columbus, the U.S. Navy Ambassadors Band from Charleston, S.C., and a Marine Color Guard.

The U.S. Air Force will stage a fly over with jet planes from Selfridge Air Force Base in Michigan while the bands play the national anthems of both the United States and Canada, since the Expos are based in Montreal.

Westfall's Karen Marshall Moves To State Track Meet

Karen Marshall of Westfall High School gained a berth in the State Girls Track Meet when she won the Central District AA high jump Thursday at Upper Arlington.

Karen took the event with a leap of 4 feet 10 inches and was also awarded the first place plaque. She will compete in the State Meet May 30 and 31 at Ohio State University. She also tied her own school record as she competed against contestants from 31 schools.

Susan Wright of Westfall finished sixth in the 440 with a time of 64.7 and received a ribbon. Only the first two places go into the State Meet. Her time was a school record.

The Mustangs 880 Medley Relay Team (Karen Marshall, Tracey Galloway, Elaine Steinhauser, Susan Wright) finished fourth with a time of 2:00.5, a school record. They received ribbons for their effort.

Texas Blanks Milwaukee, 6-0

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Bill Hands has lost his velocity, but none of his vitality.

At the age of 35, Hands no longer throws the ball as hard as he used to, but appears to be pitching as well as ever.

"There's an old saying about never underestimate class — Bill was first class today," said Milwaukee's Jim Colborn, who was outdueling 6-0 by the veteran Texas right-hander Thursday.

Hands, a one-time 20-game winner with the Chicago Cubs in the National League and a member of the Minnesota Twins' staff before coming to the Rangers this year, pitched a gorgeous five-hitter.

After two frustrating seasons with the Twins, Hands appears to have come into his own with the Rangers. Thursday's victory raised his record to 5-2 and lowered his earned run average to 2.10.

"It's just taken me awhile to learn the hitters in the American League," said Hands, who pitched the Rangers into first place in the American League West.

The Rangers took a halfgame lead over the idle Oakland A's with the victory.

In the other American League games, the California Angels beat the Boston Red Sox 6-3 and the Chicago White Sox nipped the Baltimore Orioles 2-1. In the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the San Diego Padres 4-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 8-3.

The Texas-Milwaukee game was closer than the final score indicated. Hands only had one run to work with until his teammates erupted for four runs in the eighth inning.

Jim Sundberg and Tovar opened the Texas eighth with singles and base hits by Willie Davis and Mike Hargrove produced the first two Ranger runs of the inning. After Davis and Hargrove worked a double steal, Jim Spencer was intentionally walked and then Toby Harrah singled home two more runs.

Angels 6, Red Sox 3

Rookie Jerry Remy scored the first run after a leadoff triple and then drove in two more, helping California whip Boston.

Bill Singer settled down after Fred Lynn hit a three-run homer in the third inning to pick up his fourth victory of the season. The right-hander has lost five games.

White Sox 2, Orioles 1

Carlos May singled across two runs in the third inning and Jim Kaat, with relief help from Rich Gossage, recorded his seventh victory as Chicago nipped Baltimore.

Pirates 4, Padres 2

Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run homer in the fifth inning as the Pirates snapped a three-game losing streak by beating San Diego.

Dodgers 8, Cubs 3

Ron Cey doubled home two runs in a four-run sixth inning and Jimmy Wynn's RBI single triggered a four-run seventh as Los Angeles whipped Chicago for Burt Hooton's first victory against his former club.

Trio Shares Lead In Memphis Golf

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Some self-examination, and a little change in his game, paid off for John Mahaffey.

"I took some time off to reevaluate myself," Mahaffey said. "I was not getting what I should out of my game. I discovered I'd let my swing get too flat."

"I moved a little closer to the ball and got my hands higher."

The result was a string of eight birdies in 10 holes and, with a 65, a tie with Tom Weiskopf and Andy North for the first round lead Thursday in the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

"I'm tickled to death with what I got, but it could have been even better," said Mahaffey, who hit the cup with a 30-foot putt that refused to fall and missed another of about four feet.

Jack Nicklaus, who birdied five holes in a row, was just one shot back, tied with Larry Hinson at 66.

The scores were among the lowest of the season. Veteran Gene Littler, Tom Kite and Mark Hayes were at 67, five under par. Gary Player of South Africa, the defending champion, had a 68 and missed three times from five feet or less.

"Any time you have weather like this — warm and practically no wind and a course conditioned this well, you're going to have low scores," analyzed Nicklaus.

"The greens are so big and well defined, if you drive it in the fairway you have no trouble hitting the green. And the greens are so true, you can two-putt from anywhere," Weiskopf said of the gently rolling, lake-dotted, 7,193 yard Colonial Country Club course.

Lee Trevino continued to have his problems. A balky putter contributed to a 74 that put him in danger of missing the cut after Friday's second round.

Billy Casper, a winner last week, and Dave Hill, a fourtime Memphis champion, had 71s.

Johnny Miller and Arnold Palmer are not competing.

Bobby Baker Winner Of Ohio State 500

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bobby Baker, of Salt Lake City, Utah, moved into an early lead and held on to claim victory in the featured race of the Ohio State 500 Thursday night at Columbus Motor Speedway.

Baker outdistanced Ernie Lowe, of Akron, Ohio and Butch Harris, of Houston, Tex., for the $1,000 first prize in the 100-lap event.

Teams Tied For Lead At Upper Lansdowne

At the end of the second round of play in the Wednesday Night League at Upper Lansdowne, teams No. 1 (Denny Kohn and Curt Hix) and No. 2 (Chuck Miller and Mike Seymour) are tied for the lead with 16 points apiece.

In Wednesday night action Kohn and Hix had low team net of 71. Larry Kraus had individual low gross, 38, and also low net, 33.

Joe Namath Nixes Offer From WFL

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Joe Namath has rejected the World Football League's $4 million offer, but says he isn't ready to hang up his National Football League cleats as long as the money is right.

Namath, who played out his option with the New York Jets last year to become a free agent, said at a press conference Thursday night that no NFL team except the Jets has bid for his services.

But he said he was open to offers. The Jets reportedly have offered their star quarterback a three-year contract worth $1 million. Namath said returning to New York is "certainly a possibility if we can come to an understanding of terms."

Namath was apologetic over not signing with the WFL, but maintained the WFL would not be ruined without him.

"In no way does the league's success stand with any one individual," said Namath. He ironically was joined later Thursday night by former Miami Dolphins Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick, both signed by the WFL, as he opened a new nightclub here.

"A great deal of the WFL's success this year is going to depend on the quality of the football," added Namath, who at 31 is still the sport's highest priced commodity despite his injury-plagued knees.

WFL President Chris Hemminger said in Honolulu that not signing Namath "may be a tremendous setback in TV negotiations for 1975."

"But on the other hand, it may be a plus factor because we have established in the sporting community that the league will not compromise its principles," Hemminger said.

"It was a very attractive offer and a very difficult decision to make," Namath said. "I felt bad about not signing. Everyone was excited about it."

"I decided not to accept it because of the reasons stated — personal and private," he said. "Maybe in the future, I can elaborate on my personal reason, but right now I don't want to discuss it and I don't feel I have to."

The WFL offered Namath a $500,000 signing bonus and a three-year playing contract for $500,000 a year, plus a $100,000 pension for 20 years and possible partial ownership in a future WFL team in New York.

Namath said the contract called for him to play two years in Chicago and the third year in New York, where the WFL currently has no team.

Joyce LaFontaine 5th In District

Joyce LaFontaine of Logan Elm ran in the District finals of the girls track meet Thursday at Upper Arlington and finished fifth in a strong 440 field.

Only the top two places move on to the State Meet but Joyce received a ribbon for her fifth place finish. She had a time of 64.6 while the winning time was 60.5.

The Logan Elm girls will wrap up their season Tuesday when they compete in the Mid-State League Meet at Lancaster High School.

Thunderbird Pud Wins Scioto Downs Race

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thunderbird Pud upset 7-1 odds and came through as the winner in the featured seventh race at Scioto Downs Thursday night.

YMCA Awards Banquet Attended By 148

One hundred and forty eight boys and their parents attended the YMCA's 7th Annual Awards banquet, held in the Trinity Lutheran parish hall.

The evenings program included a presentation by John Stout and Dwight Frazer on their 3100 mile cycling trip across the USA, entitled, "Wandering Wheels".

Jim Griffith and Jim Linton presented the awards for the years Gra-Y and Junior and Senior high athletic events.

Individual trophies were presented to members of the Kings, winners of the 1974-75 Junior high basketball league, and to the players of the Celtics team for winning the Junior high basketball tournament.

Members of the Brewers team were the top winners of the 1974-75 Senior high basketball league and tournament.

Team trophies were presented for the four major athletic events held during the Gra-Y Club school year.

In September the eleven Gra-Y Clubs participated in flag football at South Court Street school. Trophy winners were Nicholas Drive, first place; Atwater, second; and Washington Township, third.

Following flag football, the 175 grade school boys played hockey for five weeks at the YMCA. Winners were Nicholas, first place; Atwater, second and Atwater B, third.

From February 8 through April 6, the Gra-Y members were actively involved in basketball at the YMCA. NBA Division champ was Ashville and ABA champ was Atwater and the tournament winner trophy went to the Atwater Gra-Y club.

The Gra-Y Athletic season ended with the annual Field and Track meet on April 19. First place trophy honors went to the Atwater Gra-Y Club.

For the seventh year, the YMCA and Gra-Y staff selected a Gra-Y team showing outstanding sportsmanship during the year. This 1975 nomination went to the Washington Gra-Y Club.

Another coveted Gra-Y trophy presented each year is the Individual Sportsmanship trophy. The recipient of this award is determined by fellow club members.

This year recipients were: Barry Sealock, Atwater Gra-Y; Brad Fisher, Nicholas Gra-Y; Jerry Ogan, Mound Street Gra-Y; Tom Tomlinson, High Street Gra-Y; Kevin Thomas, Corwin Street Gra-Y; Mark McGuire, South Court Street Gra-Y; Mike Loudin, Jackson Gra-Y; Scott Seymour, Ashville Gra-Y; Rob Caudill, Pickaway Gra-Y and Billy White, Washington Gra-Y.

Billy White for the second year received the top candy sale prize of a Sportsman Certificate. Other candy sale prizes given out were Voit Basketballs, pocket radios, Converse tennis shoes and T-shirts. Nineteen Y candy salesmen attended Kings Island on April 26.

Warriors To Face Bullets In 3rd Tilt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rick Barry, pro basketball's gypsy, says the game hasn't always been enjoyable for him.

"But I'm having more fun now than I've ever had before," the Golden State Warriors' star said prior to tonight's third game of the nationally televised, best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series against the Washington Bullets.

The reason for his joy has been the miraculous manner in which the Warriors have played this season, including their unexpected 2-0 lead over the Bullets. And the major reason for the Warriors' favorable position has been Barry.

STANDING PAT—Patricia Stiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lehman Stiles, Route 2, Ashville, is pictured holding her horse, Tacy, at the All-American Youth Horse Show in Columbus. She won two firsts and a third place in her age group and was eighth in the championship class for contestants 21 years and under. Patricia is a member of the Ramblin Riders 4-H Club and is a seventh grader at Teays Valley Junior High School. One of the horse show officials prepares to present Patricia with a winner's ribbon.

Carter To Race Despite Injury

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — As he lies in bed today and nurses his sore back, and as his pit crew works to create a competitive car from a pile of junk,

Duane "Pancho" Carter Jr. can ponder what a difference two minutes would have made.

The thought of it may haunt him every time he thinks about 1975's running of the Indianapolis 500. Those two minutes — forgotten seconds to most in the month-long party that is Indy — were all that remained Thursday before a three-hour practice session was to be ended at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

As Carter, a highly regarded young driver, came roaring out of the first turn, his car began one of the most spectacular single-car crashes in the speedway's long history. It slid 420 feet before smacking the outer wall, then spun another 213 feet across the track before clipping a fire truck and coming to rest in a drainage ditch.

The car is a shambles; mechanics worked through the night and are still working to take the parts from a backup car and somehow fit them onto what remains of Carter's. The 24-year-old Carter, meanwhile, stumbled and collapsed as he climbed out of the wreckage, but he escaped with only a torn muscle in his back. Doctors told him to put ice packs on his sore back, and said he could race Sunday.

"Duane's going to be all right," said his father, Duane Sr., as the other drivers for Sunday's $1 million race went over needed adjustments with their crews.

It is considered a certainty that the 24-year-old Carter, the top rookie in last year's 500, will start Sunday in the sixth row. But it will be in a patchwork car in which he will have no chance to practice.

So Carter cannot be considered a strong challenger to pole-sitter A.J. Foyt, who will be a 2-1 favorite to win an unprecedented fourth Indy 500.

Foyt joined Carter and the 31 other drivers here Thursday during the three-hour trial runs. It was the only time this week the cars are allowed on the track.

Johnny Rutherford, last year's winner who will be starting on the inside of the third row Sunday, turned in a lap at 190.921, the second fastest of the day, and said he believed his chances were good to repeat the victory, a trick last turned by Al Unser in 1970 and 1971.

Others who performed well Thursday were Tom Sneva, a 26-year-old former junior high school teacher whose 191-plus was the fastest of the day and Bobby Unser, 38, a former winner here who went above 189 in yet another excellent test of a car designed for him by Dan Gurney.

Foyt's fastest lap was 187.931, eight miles per hour below his fastest qualifying lap, but there was no reason to believe anything was bothering the 40-year-old Texan, whose cunning manner would not put him above holding back from top speeds.

Kentucky Colonels Take ABA Crown By Beating Pacers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Game 751 was the biggest of them all for the Kentucky Colonels.

When it ended Thursday evening, they had won their first American Basketball Association championship by holding off Indiana, 110-105, ending an eight-year drought.

Colonels' owner Ellie Brown, sipping champagne afterwards in the dressing room, said, "We're ready to take on the National Basketball Association in a Super Bowl, but they probably won't do it. They have too much to lose."

Louie Dampier, the only Colonels' player still around since Game No. 1 was played in 1967, admitted it was nice to collect a winner's check for approximately $7,000, "but there's something more important."

"The money will go into the bank or I'll spend it, but I'll have a championship ring to keep forever."

In taking the series four games to one, the Colonels relied heavily on Artis Gilmore, who collected 28 points and set a playoff record by snatching 31 rebounds. That was three more than he had last Saturday when he broke the old mark of 27 held jointly by Tom Washington and Mel Daniels.

Voted the most valuable player of the series, Gilmore also won a new car.

Ted McClain, who hit 19 points, was credited with 15 steals, an ABA record. High point honors went to Indiana's Billy Knight, who finished with 40, followed by George McGinnis with 31.

It was Knight, with 22 seconds left on the clock, who almost pulled the game out for Indiana when he hit two free throws, narrowing the gap to 108-103.

Findlay Coach Minus Uniforms

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — When Findlay College's new head football coach meets his team in August, he's likely to have a problem of identification.

There will be many new, unfamiliar faces on the practice field and Coach Dick Strahm won't have numbers to help him.

Somebody swiped all 57 football jerseys from the Oilers' locker room — 35 white road shirts and 22 black ones for home games, valued at $12.50 each.

Paula Sperber Wins Bowling Tournament

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — It finished as a battle between the 1971 winner and the 1972 champion, but 1971 winner Paula Sperber, a 24-year-old left-hander from Miami, Fla., came on strong in Thursday night's closing session to nail down the top prize of $6,000 in the $50,000 BPAA U.S. Women's Open at Southwyck Lanes.

Miss Sperber finished the tournament with a closing 5-1 record in the match play competition, scoring a pinfall of 1,231 for her six games for a 5,500 tournament total. Her final scorecard saw her hit 4,975 for the 24 final games, and she compiled a 17-6-1 log.

Murderer Of Deputy Still Hunted

He then dropped in a 13-foot shot, but Gilmore was fouled and pumped in two from the free throw line to make it 110-105.

Indiana called time out with 15 seconds left, and when play resumed Billy Keller fired off a 26-footer that missed.

In Game No. 2, it was Keller's 45-foot shot that touched off an Indiana protest after Kentucky won 95-93.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A statewide alert was issued Thursday for a Dayton man for questioning in the shooting death of Montgomery County Deputy Sheriff Randall Richter, 23, of Englewood.

Authorities said the man was identified through the license plates of a car Richter was investigating when he was shot in the face early Tuesday morning.

Shortly before being shot, the deputy radioed the license number to headquarters. Within minutes, a passerby used the radio to report the shooting.

Richter's gun was still in his holster and had not been fired, authorities said.

A car bearing that license number was later discovered.

Deputies said a man was arrested after firing a gun at officers investigating the abandoned vehicle, but they do not consider him a suspect in the shooting.

The man lived in a house near the abandoned car.

Two officers were slightly injured by concrete fragments when another officer's gun was discharged accidentally into the concrete porch of the house.

Sheriff Bernard Keiter said Richter was the first of his deputies to die in the line of duty in his 23 years in office.
